

Refurbish your machine with the new PC036 and PC-GO-Software

Extend the life-time of your machine through easy controller replacement

S1X

Out-of-the-box solution is designed for hydrostatic transmissions with one pump and one motor

Danfoss

easy to adapt

Functional safety compliant system has been fully tested, validated, and documented

PC036

Software configurability enables customization to meet precise machine specifications

Reprogramming a complete machine control system requires considerable investment:

- suitable platform
- a programmer who understands the machine control system and can put it into operation.

The new PC036 controller from Danfoss is equipped with the standardized PC-Go software and considerably simplifies the conversion to a new controller in an existing machine.